

ABSTRACT

A motor control system that switches between voltage control and angle control. The motor control system includes a comparator, an angle control, and a voltage control.